CONSULTANCY PROFILE

Richard Campo, Data Protection Consultant

SPECIALISM | DATA PROTECTION

Richard has near-encyclopaedic knowledge of the UK's Data Protection Act, as well as considerable experience with data protection laws and regulations from a host of other jurisdictions, including the US and European Union. He has helped a number of organisations determine their obligations under the DPA, as well as identifying and implementing solutions.

SPECIALISM | INFORMATION SECURITY

Richard has nearly two decades' experience in information security, including developing information security management frameworks for major multinationals. Combined with his impressive knowledge of legal and regulatory frameworks, he is able to support clients in maximising both security of information and compliance with legal requirements.

PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE

Richard has spent almost his whole career in information security, including a long stint managing global information security compliance for a multinational organisation. This role required Richard to ensure the organisation was compliant across a wide range of legal jurisdictions.
